Patrik Melis was one of many students who nominated his internship company for the prize during the spring.

'Extraordinarily good'

The jury justified their choice of BoligPortal and Patrik Melis, stating that this internship period was the best in all areas. Professionally and socially. From the beginning, a good match between the intern and the company.

'I wouldn't change a single thing about the process. Not even one. It was extraordinarily good,' says the 21-year-old multimedia design student, who comes from Slovakia and came to Aarhus for his education after graduating from high school.

Many hours with his fingers in the interface

At BoligPortal, Denmark's largest housing portal for renting with more than 50 employees, Patrik worked with, among other things, BoligPortal's app, both during his ten-week internship and in his final exam project. He also improved the website for the Swedish market.

'I wanted an internship that would teach me a lot about design. I got down to the nitty-gritty. I designed for six hours every day - and I loved it,' Patrik says, adding:

'BoligPortal really trusted me and gave me lots of feedback, they let me collaborate with talented colleagues and experience how inspiring it is to work in a team.'

From internship to job

BoligPortal has acknowledged his effort by offering Patrik a student job as a UX Designer.

'Patrik has been an amazing intern, primarily because he is really skilled and secondly because he has a Pippi Longstocking mentality with his infectious curiosity and courage,' says Patrik's colleague and mentor Product Manager and UX Designer Frederik Rømning from BoligPortal.

Proud of the prize

At BoligPortal, we will use the prize to remind ourselves to keep on being good for our employees.

‘We are so proud of this award. When you become part of BoligPortal, it is important that you have the opportunity to make a difference, to get real responsibility so that you can see and feel the results of your work, we all need that,’ says BoligPortal's CEO Anders Hyldborg.

About this year's best internship

Every year, more than 2,000 students from Business Academy Aarhus experience an internship. An internship is compulsory on all of our higher education programmes.

The crowning of this year's best internship at Business Academy Aarhus pays tribute to the importance of good internships and at the same time allows the students to give something back to their internship company.
